Introduction to Recording Workshop

Who:

This workshop is for people who are interested in recording their first demo and/or learning about the basics of working in a recording studio. Skill level is not a factor. You could be a complete beginner or an experienced professional. Learning and applying the basics is beneficial regardless of skill level. The workshop is taught by David Andrew Wiebe, who has had 9 years of recording experience on both software and hardware platforms, and a long list of production credits.

What:

The 2 hour introduction to recording workshop covers the following elements of audio production:

- An introduction to digital recording
- Pre-production
- Microphone selection & placement
- How to work with a click track
- Mixing & mastering
- CD burning
- And other related topics

Individual Rate: $100 (a $50 savings from our Spark package).

Group Rate: $25 a person (up to 10 people, 5 minimum).

When:

This workshop is currently offered from September 6 to October 31, 2011. This period may be extended based on demand and feedback. Bookings are on an individual or group basis; Red Flame can accommodate you based on your schedule. Call (403) 585-9179 to book your session!
